Founded in 1959 and based in El Monte, California, TransGo is a leading specialty manufacturer and designer of automotive parts that are used to repair faulty transmissions. The Company's products exclusively address automatic transmission valve bodies, one of the most technically complex parts of the transmission. TransGo's parts and kits support the majority of models manufactured over the last 50+ years for most of the top automakers in the U.S., providing post-warranty aftermarket solutions for both cars and trucks.
