John Staurulakis, Inc. (“JSI”) is the leading provider of regulatory compliance, management and financial consulting services to independent Incumbent Local Exchange Carriers (“ILECs”) and other communications providers in the U.S. JSI offers a core set of regulatory, compliance and business consulting services, including cost study filings, which are required by the FCC on an annual basis to recoup expenses associated with providing broadband and voice services to customers in high-cost rural areas.

Five Points Capital provided subordinated debt and an equity co-investment to support the acquisition of JSI by Stone-Goff Partners.
